2. WHO WE ARE

CIN is the leading provider of information services, due diligence products, and practice management solutions to the consumer law industry. CIN is also a reseller of consumer credit data maintained by the national credit bureaus. CIN offers Consumers and Customers a comprehensive portfolio of innovative products, services and tools that assist in the accurate, efficient, and cost-effective preparation of consumer law cases.

●CIN is by definition a consumer reporting agency (CRA) operating in accordance with the requirements of the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), 15 U.S.C. § 1681 et seq. The FCRA establishes the following principles for all CRAs:

- Privacy: A CRA may furnish information from your personal credit profile to a Third Party only if 1) that Third Party has a permissible purpose to receive such information, and 2) you have given the CRA "written instructions" authorizing the CRA under Section 604(a)(2) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. §1681 et. seq.) to obtain your personal credit profile from one or more of the national credit bureaus and provide it to the Third Party.
- Access: Consumers may receive a copy of information a CRA maintains about them. Such reports can be obtained free of charge once per year or for a reasonable fee for additional disclosures. Please visit the following website to obtain more information: www.annualcreditreport.com.

- Accuracy: CRAs must follow reasonable procedures to assure accuracy of the information they maintain and furnish. When you obtain a copy of your information, you have a right to dispute and have the information reinvestigated and corrected in the CRA's database.
- Fairness: CRAs obtain their information from various sources including public records and direct reports from creditors. The FCRA establishes time frames for how long a CRA can report certain types of negative credit data and activity.
- Accountability: The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau is charged with overseeing the operations of CRAs and enforcing FCRA requirements.
